CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusions

Based on discussion of the previous chapter, the writer can make conclusion that writing is the most important skill that must be mastered well by all students. because by writing, the students can communicate with the other people indirectly.

To develop students writing skill, teacher should give interesting strategy in teaching. There are many strategies that make students interesting in writing activities. In this paper the writer combining flower strategy and POW strategy.

By using flower strategy, this is a great and simple writing strategy for helping students explain their thinking process and creativity in order to make support logical argument in making a complete paragraph. The teacher guide to the students to write paragraph easy based on the step and point that provided by this strategy and this strategy will make the students can be creative and easy to explore and write their ideas.

Then through POW strategy, POW strategy is a strategy that helps students to convey their opinion in their essay. And also this strategy guides the students to develop their ideas. Strategy used to help the students to organize their writing. In this strategy, the teacher guide the students to pick their ideas, organize their ideas by asking some questions and ask the students write their story in essay.
B. Suggestions.

Based on the conclusion above, the writer would like to give several suggestion as the following; first, the teacher should considered selecting the material or topic based on the students level. Second, the teacher should motivate students and encouraged them to be interested in learning English especially in writing. Third, the teacher should be creative in designing the learning process so that the students become excited to follow the teaching and learning process, and they can get better understanding in writing. For example the teacher should use the interest media, like picture, educational text and etc so with the teacher used the interesting the media, the teacher make students active and creative in learning process. The writer would like to suggest using combining flower strategy and POW strategy to improve student’s ability in writing skill.
